

4. At the Deputy's meeting this morning, Mr. Kirkpatrick pointed out steps which we had taken to secure Agency comments on specific Congressional bills and that in certain cases in question we had forwarded the bills to various agency components but had received no comments in return. In order to avoid possible mishap in the future through lack of comments, a follow up system is to be devised in this office; the three Deputies will designate specific persons on their staffs who will be responsible for legislative comments within their respective components and who in turn will forward the comments to this office. 28 May 1954
